Tenafly school renovations are on schedule

Published: February 3, 2008

What: A $33.4 million project with additions and renovations to Tenafly High School and Tenafly Middle School. When: Voters approved a ballot proposal in November 2005. Construction on the middle school started in December 2006 and on the high school's addition in March, said Superintendent Morton Sherman.

Details: A 39,215-square-foot addition to the high school, which includes classrooms, a drafting room, a gymnasium and science labs. A 42,758-square-foot addition at the middle school consisting of classrooms, science labs and rooms, art rooms, a gymnasium and a TV/video room. Classrooms and offices are also being renovated at both schools.

Where the project stands: The middle school addition was finished in November with renovations to be completed next month. The high school addition is expected to be open by mid-March with renovations finished in June.

Costs: A $28.6 million bid was awarded for the project, leaving a $4.7 million contingency fund.

Issue: For a six-week period at summer's end, there was a delay in recording change orders, Sherman said. This prompted questions from Board of Education members about whether the district would have sufficient funds for some purchases outside of the construction work, Sherman said. Epic Group, the project's construction manager, has since changed the way it reports the change orders and Sherman signs off on every order, he said.
